

ERIN

ANDREWS

ERIN

ANDREWS

Career Highlights

- 2001-02: Tampa Bay Lightning reporter for the Sunshine Network.
- 2002-04: Studio host for Turner Sports.
- 2004: Joins ESPN as an NHL reporter.
- 2005: Adds MLB to ESPN duties.
- 2007: Named "America's Sexiest Sportscaster."
- 2008: Anchors Gillette® 2008 MLB® Rookie Reporter Showdown™.

Personal File

- Erin grew up in Lewiston, Maine, the daughter of Emmy Award-winning journalist, Steve Andrews.
- Erin is involved with animal rights and cancer charities.
- Top media food spread: The Dodgers Club Level, but I'm more of a concourse food kind of gal! Hot dogs, pizza, and pretzels!
- Favorite position: Catcher. The respect pitchers and other players have for a good catcher is amazing.
- More important - lather or fragrance: Fragrance. Who doesn't want to smell good?
- City you wish had an MLB team: Las Vegas. I'd request working those games at least once a month!
- Memorable baseball moment: In 4th grade, I was so excited to tell my family that I was put in right field... I didn't understand why my dad was chuckling to himself about it. Now I do!

www.MLB.com/GilletteReporter

