

MAY 01, 2014

0 Comments

Motivation > Social Causes >

Wounded Warrior Project >

g+1 Tweet Like Share 4

RECENT ARTICLES

Wounded Warrior Project

Masochists and sadists

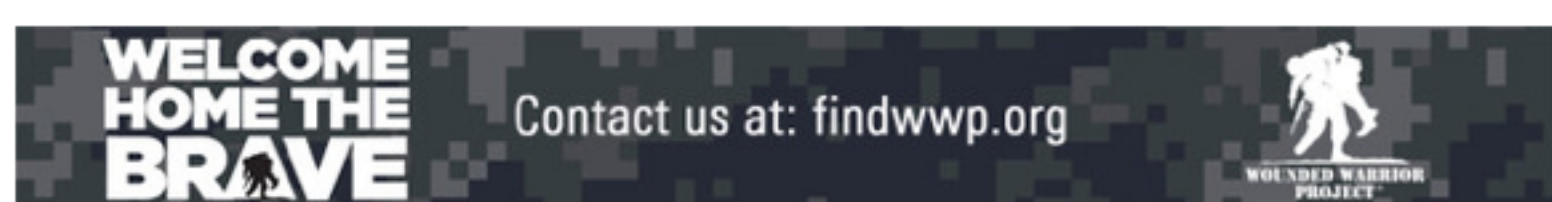

The Top Ten Things You Least Want to Hear Shouted at a Mud Run

Yet another “drink in moderation” blog

Try Complete Health

Search Runkzers Blog...

WOUNDED WARRIOR PROJECT

When talking about mudders, obstacle course runs, and other similar events, we often frame our participation in terms of heroically conquering insurmountable challenges. It's hyperbole, of course, because we all know the reality is that while physically challenging, the events are ... well ... just events. Fun events.

But there are true heroes, people who fight every day against physical and mental challenges that most of us could never imagine. They are wounded veterans of our armed forces, struggling every day to accomplish tasks that most of us take for granted.

We honor and salute their heroics, offering our support through the Wounded Warrior Project, a non-profit organization that serves veterans and service members who incurred a physical or mental injury, illness or wound co-incident to their military service on or after September 11, 2001, and their families.

The Wounded Warrior Project offers a variety of programs and services that encourage and assist these heroes and their families who face a lifetime of challenges one day at a time. We will never forget them. And we invite you to offer your support, too.

To learn more, or lend your support, please visit The Wounded Warrior Project.

WELCOME HOME THE BRAVE

Put their warrior experience to work for your company.
Contact us at: findwwp.org